

IORI

ER

LO

CH

R

THE LAWTON M. CHILES, JR.

CENTER FOR FLORIDA HISTORY

Founded in 2001, the Lawton M. Chiles, Jr., Center for Florida History strives to enhance the teaching, study, and writing of Florida history. The center seeks to preserve the state's past through cooperative efforts with historical societies, preservation groups, museums, public programs, media, and interested persons. This unique center, housed in the Sarah D. and L. Kirk McKay, Jr., Archives Center, is a source of continuing information created to increase appreciation for Florida history.

ABOUT THE LECTURE SERIES

In its 17th year, the Lawton M. Chiles, Jr. Florida Lecture Series is a forum that brings speakers to the Florida Southern College campus to explore Florida life and culture from a wide range of disciplines, including history, public affairs, law, sociology, criminology, anthropology, literature, and art. The overall objective of the series is to bring members of the community, the faculty, and the student body together to interact with and learn from leading scholars in their fields.

BOARD OF GOVERNORS

Dr. James M. Denham, Executive Director

SEPTEMBER 26

T. D. ALLMAN

l

“Finding Florida: The True History
of the Sunshine State”

B

l A

Rarely, if ever, has a book on Florida history generated as much discussion and controversy as T. D.
Allman's F Fl .

GENE SMITH

H , C

“The Slave’s Gamble: Choosing Sides
in the War of 1812”

B B I , H II

Though largely forgotten,
the War of 1812 had profound consequences for the United States. The conflict confirmed U.S. independence and secured its borders, all the while ushering in a significant, if brief, period of national unity. The war also dislodged Native Americans, triggering American expansion to the Mississippi River.

Historian Gene Smith studies the war and its aftermath from the perspective of enslaved Africans, concluding that the conflict resulted in “the greatest nineteenth-century diaspora of blacks from the United States” ever. A native of Alabama, Smith earned his Ph.D. in history from Auburn University in 1991. He is an expert on early national America and naval history and the author of seven books and many articles. Recently he was appointed Class of 1957 Distinguished Lecturer in Naval Heritage at the United States Naval Academy
during 2013–14. Smith lives in Fort Worth,

FEBRUARY 20

LESLIE KEMP POOLE
H I C H

“Marjorie Rawlings and the

